SATURDAY, JUNE 16 FINAL DATE TO FILE FOR OFFICE

Next Saturday, June 16, is the final date for aspirants for county office to register for places on the Democratic ballot, according to Ed Blakeman, County Democratic Executive Committee chairman, who believes most of the aspirants have already filed.

Final date for filing for district and state office was Monday, June 4, filing now being confined entirely to county offices.

Mr. Blakeman says that there are several smaller precinct offices not yet announced for. However, it is expected that all offices will be filed for by Saturday. Interest in politics, state, district and county has not been up to par in Collin county this year and some are even going so far as to predict that the race will never "warm up" to any great degree, although more interest will probably be shown following and during the candidates' speaking itinerary of the county, which will commence the latter part of this month.

Chairman Blakeman says that plans for such an itinerary are being discussed. These tours give county, district and state candidates and their representatives a chance to meet, speak and mingle with the voters in the various voting box districts of the county.

FATHER'S DAY TO BE OBSERVED SUNDAY

Next Sunday, June 16, will be Father's Day throughout the nation when "Dad" will be remembered by all other members of the family. Special church services, homecomings, family dinners, reunions, gifts, messages of love and affection will honor the head of the family in every city, town, village and hamlet in the nation.

McKinney fathers will in all probability be the recipients of many special favors and marks of appreciation.

Father's Day, honoring the family head is becoming more popular among all during the past few years, and is now a widespread observance, much in the same manner as Mother's Day.

FARMERSVILLE FIXES UNIFORM POWER RATES

The Farmersville city council Thursday night passed a new power rate for all utilities in Farmersville, including the municipal plant and Texas-Louisiana Power company. The rate set at 10c per kilowatt hour down. The municipal plant has been charging 15c down, while the Texas-Louisiana company rate was 5c and 3c.

The power company issued a letter saying it would comply with the new rate set by the city, thus ending a contest between the city and the power company which has gone through all the courts of the State for the last tree years and attracted wide attention.

Bruce McDonald, son of Mrs. J. W. McDonald of Wylie and the late J. W. McDonald, superintendent of Wylie Public schools before his death several years ago, was among the 225 spring term graduates of Southern Methodist university who received his degree in recent commencement exercises in McFarlin Auditorium, at the University. He was awarded the degree of Bachelor of Electrical Engineering. He is a grandson of the late A. W. McDonald, pioneer Wylie farmer, and Confederate veteran.

JACK SHELTON ELECTED PRESIDENT A. J. C. CLUB

TEXAN HONORED; FIRST TIME HONOR COMES TO THE SOUTHWEST

Blank & Stoller, Inc.
Jack Shelton, Luling, Texas, President, The American Jersey Cattle Club.

Elected president of the American Jersey Cattle club at its annual meeting in New York this week, Jack Shelton of Luling is the first man from the South or Southwest to head the organization, which is the oldest dairy breed association in the United States, in its sixty-six years of existence. J. W. Ridgeway of Fort Worth was one of the four new directors elected by the club, the others being G. W. Sisson Jr., of Potsdam, N. J.; Jack Reed of Tupelo, Miss.; and Charles F. Michael of Bucyrus, Ohio.

A 1917 graduate of Texas A. & M. college, Mr. Shelton is manager of the Luling Foundation Farm, the $1,000,000, 1,200-acre model farm established in 1927 by Edgar B. Davis, Texas oil man and developer of the Luling oil field. Before going to Luling Mr. Shelton, with his brother, was the first Texas Jersey breeder to breed and officially test a cow to qualify for the Medal of Merit, highest award of the American Jersey Cattle club. This cow's record of 754.07 pounds of butterfat in 305 days is the highest ever made by a Texas Jersey.

The new head of the American club also is a former president of the Texas Jersey Cattle club and a former county farm agent of the Texas Extension Service.

Mr. Shelton is quite well known to the Jersey breeders of this county and has visited some of them in former years. All will be pleased at the high honor that has come to him in being elected as President of the American Jersey Cattle club with headquarters at 324 West Twenty-Third street, New York City, in its own brick office building. There are four or five members of the American Jersey Cattle club living in this county.

Mrs. Eunice Allen of this city informs us that her young son, Fred Allen Jr., celebrated his ninth birthday Saturday, June 9, in Childress, Texas. He is spending the summer in that West Texas city with his father, Fred Allen, and his grandmother, Fred Jr. writes his mother he is having a wonderful time out there. His grandmother gave a birthday party for the lad.

Mrs. J. H. Lugenbeel, mother of Mrs. Chas. M. Cooper, left McKinney Saturday for Fort Morgan, Colorado, to visit in that cooler climate during the hot summer and early fall months. She has a son, Basil Lugenbeel, and a daughter, Mrs. F. I. Engelbardt, both living at Fort Morgan.

Mesquite Club Member Has Beet Pickles Canned

"My beet pickles are all put up now," Mrs. Leonard Jackson, member of the Mesquite club, told Miss Helen Dunlap, county home demonstration club agent. Mrs. Jackson states that she tries to get them canned each year when they are about the size of a half dollar. She says that her family eats them much better than when larger as they soon become coarse grained and lose their sweet flavor. She feels that many who do not enjoy beet pickles try to eat them when they are too large.

Mrs. Jackson states that she is canning vegetables almost every day. She gathers beans in three gallon water pails each day now and those not needed for the table are canned and stored for winter use.

Miss Poppy Sears, who has been ill for several days, is improved Saturday.

COLLIN IS GROWING ONION PRODUCING AREA OF WORLD

The westward spreading of the onion growing movement in Collin county is apparent through the heavy shipments of onions from McKinney and the bigtime manner in which the "onion deal" is going over here, according to L. H. Money, Division Superintendent of the Louisiana, Arkansas & Texas Railway company with Hugh S. Fry, Division Superintendent of the Louisiana Arkansas & Texas Railway company, with headquarters in Greenville.

Mr. Money, who in company with Hugh S. Fry, Division Agent of the L. A. & T., was in McKinney Tuesday, inspecting the "onion deal" at this end of the line, says that the onion growing industry this year has established interest somewhat on a par with the cotton, wheat and corn growing activities in this county. He further states that the Collin county onion market is more diversified this year and is better established.

The L. A. & T., according to the local office, handled thirty carloads of onions out of Collin county Saturday and the same number Monday. Their daily shipments have been between twenty and thirty cars during the entire period of the "onion deal."

The L. A. & T. has four shipping points in the county—McKinney, Princeton, Farmersville and Cottonland, the latter, a station just inside the Collin line between Collin and Hunt where a large onion shipping shed was built this spring for Sid Hildreth, former Mayor of Farmersville and large onion grower, who ships from that point exclusively.

In the conversation with this editor Tuesday, Superintendent Money stated that the onion acreage, in Collin county this year, is larger than ever before, but the yield is comparatively light.

The quality of the onions is the best he has ever seen, "the best in the nation" in his opinion.

The price is also fairly good. Superintendent Money says that the three-inch rain which fell in the county several days ago "made" the onion crop. A rain, a week earlier, would have caused the heaviest yield in history.

As far as the market is concerned, the price is fairly good, and the demand is extraordinarily heavy.

Two Collin county buyers sold six carloads of onions in less than four hours Tuesday and were preparing to buy more.

The Collin county growing area has possibilities of becoming one of the greatest in the world, according to Mr. Money, who further states that only a small per cent of the available onion acreage between McKinney and Princeton, in the deep blackland where the onion industry was developed in this section, has yet been utilized.

"Ideal conditions surrounding this year's crop should induce Colli ncounty to go in even stronger for the onion industry," he said. "The county bids fair now to outstrip the entire Rio Grande Valley producing section in quantity production in the course of the next few years and may became the premier onion growing center of the world.

Only two states now raise more onions than Texas. They are Ohio and Illinois.

The Collin county onion growing area is now becoming recognized as the producer of the finest of White and Yellow Bermuda onions. I believe conditions are ideal for the further speading of the onion movement towards West Collin, and the eventual elevation of Collin county to the pinnacle in onion production," he stated.

The L. A. & T. railroad has built four new sheds for onion shipping in Collin county, this year—one at Cottonland, one at McKinney and two at Farmersville.

The onion production at Princeton, in the territory where the movement was first fostered several years ago, is so heavy that shipping facilities are taxed to take care of the large number of cars.

Ten cars were being loaded on a side track there, Saturday, in addition to the regular loading processes under the sheds.

R. J. Thompson is local station agent of the L. A. & T. Mr. Thompson is an experienced railroad man who with his efficient help in the local office is making many good friends among onion growers and buyers and shippers for our fair little capital city of this wonderful agricultural county.

Mr. Money urges the local Chamber of Commerce, business and banking interests of the city to enlist their interest in this development of the onion growing industry on the farms throughout the county—westward as well as eastward, and cooperate with farmers in utilizing the opportunity of making Collin county one of the world's greatest onion producing areas. It can be done, he says, by the proper encouragement of farmers and cooperation of business men, onion buyers and the railroad carriers.

His railroad, as stated above, has cooperated to the extent of building and adding to its facilities for accommodating the growers, buyers and shippers in the way of building new packing sheds alongside their tracks and giving better freight train schedules as needed in moving to the market centers the onions after they have been screened, sacked or crated, sold and loaded on to the cars.

SUBSTANTIAL NORTH COLLIN BANK AT ANNA

On a recent visit at Anna a representative of this paper called at the bank at that place of which Grady Giles is cashier and R. C. Moore is president. Both of these gentlemen were in at the time. R. C. Moore is one of the most substantial business men of North Collin. While he has made a success of his own affairs, he has also been a very helpful factor to that North Collin town and surrounding trade territory. Grady Giles is one of the brightest, most progressive young business men of our entire section of the county. The bookkeepers and assistants in the Anna bank are Mrs. J. B. McKinney, formerly Miss Jack Parris, and Mays Powell, both fine young people who were born and reared in that community. Cashier Giles said that his farmer patrons were getting quite anxious to receive their cotton acreage reduction rents. They need the money.

Thanks to R. L. Worsham, 519 Hollywood, Dallas, for Weekly Democrat-Gazette renewal for another year in advance. Bob Worsham and his wife were both born and reared in McKinney. He is the son of the late Kelly Worsham, who was Street Commissioner of McKinney for many years.

Thanks to Mrs. J. P. Coffey for renewal cash on the Weekly Democrat-Gazette for another year in advance. She adds the following gracious word to the editors in her note about changing her address, "I always enjoy the Democrat-Gazette so much and look forward with no little degree of pleasure for its coming every week." She is now getting the paper, Roule 1, Van Alstyne, care A. W.Jernigan.

B. F. (Doc) Ferguson, for many years a McKinney contractor, died recently at his home at Frederick, Oklahoma, at the age of eighty-four. His wife was formerly Miss Betty Wilson, daughter of Uncle Joe Wilson, a Collin county pioneer ,who died about twenty-five or thirty years ago at Allen where he reared his family. Doc Ferguson moved away about thirty years ago to Oklahoma.

M'KINNEY ONION MARKET EMPLOYES MUCH LABOR

Several scores of people are working like Trojans in the onion packing and shipping sheds alongside the tracks of the two McKinney railroads at their stations in the eastern part of the city.

We have a number of buyers to bid on the Crystal White and Yellow onions that have been grown in this territory and brought here to sell by the farmers.

The market Tuesday ranged from 60 cents field run to $1.20 per bushel, according to variety, grade and quality.

Both local steam railroads are shipping out numerous carloads every day and night.

Official state and Federal inspectors pass on the quality and grade of the onions when the car is loaded, so as to assure the wholesale buyers in the distant cities or ports that they are getting what they are paying for.

We hear many local onion growers, buyers and shippers, as well as business people and merchants, expressing the hope that the Texas Electric Railway may also provide onion screening, packing and shipping sheds alongside its track by the shipping season next year.

Unquestionably, the better facilities and more inducements offered onion growers, buyers and shippers by McKinney, the more popular our local market will become throughout the country and the more competition will come here in the market for the Collin county grown onions that cannot be excelled in quality.

The better the market, the more money is turned loose in local business channels to help everybody and every kind of business.

The T. & N. O. (formerly H. & T. C.) railroad has one very large and capacious shed for the accommodation of farmers and buyers who come here during the marketing season every year. But this railroad clearly needs double its present capacity in this respect and would have made more money for itself, as well as greatly helped McKinney as an onion marketing center, had it built to meet the present demand when it became evident several months ago that a large increase in onion acreage in this territory had been set out.

The L. A. & T. railway built another shed in its shipping yards recently that is greatly increasing McKinney's facilities as a favorable onion market in which farmers may sell and to which buyers may come with the assurance of such necessary cooperation as the local shipping points must always provide.

As a consequence of their foresight, the L. A. & T. railway is getting a much larger volume of business in onion carload shipments than it ever before obtained from McKinney. This railroad this year also built two additional sheds at Farmersville and another at Cottonland, located four miles east of Farmersville, just west of the Hunt-Collin county line.

This paper is voicing the sentiment of the business interests of our city and the entire onion growing element among the farmers of surrounding trade territory in hoping that the Texas Electric Railway may also provide better onion shipping facilities for business originating at McKinney next year than it has, this year.

The more outlets for Collin shipments, the more buyers are attracted to our city and the more buyers at McKinney means the more onions grown and brought here to market by farmers who are always partial to the keenest and most competitive markets in which to sell their product.

Tommie (Doe) Rollins was here from McKinney Tuesday looking after his farm. Doe has been doing splendid work as vocational teacher in the McKinney High school during the past several years and his capable services have been retained for another year by the McKinney school board. For a number of years Doe was one of the best high school coaches in the state. He built up the famous regional championship football team here and coached football in McKinney two years, but gave up coaching and is devoting all his time to vocational work.—Farmersville Times.

Just before the ceremony Miss Frances Oates of McKinney sang "If God Left Only You."

The bride wore for her wedding dress a semi-formal blue and white gown with blue accessories, a white picture hat and carried a prayer book with a shower of valley lillies and orange blossoms. She as given away by her brother-in-law, John H. Gammon, of Muleshoe.

The bride was attended by her sisters, Grace Jennings Gammon of Muleshoe and Miss Shelley Jennings of Plainview. Both wore crocheted dresses, picture hats and carried bouquets of blue and pink Shasta daisies.

The groom was attended by Lou Brown of Amarillo, his best man.

The young couple will be at home at Post, Texas.

The bride is a graduate of Texas Christian university, attended Transylvania university at Lexington, Ky., and is a member of the Chi Omega sorority. She has taught in the Lubbock Public schools.

Mr. Taylor is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Taylor of Lubbock. He is a graduate of the engineering division of Texas Technological college and is employed in the engineering branch of the State Highway department.

While in Weston one day recently, we visited our good friend, Lee Howell, general merchant who was enjoying a splendid trade at the time. We noted a number of customers in the store. Our good friend, B. M. Hamilton, was assisting him in waiting on the trade. Weston is the center of an excellent farming country. It has a good gin. Farmers in every direction around this old Collin county town were busy in their fields chopping and plowing cotton, plowing corn, harvesting their grain and doing other seasonal farm work.

C. C. Stewart, assistant cashier of the Central State bank of this city, states that Blue Ridge community enjoyed a fine rain Tuesday morning, amounting to about 2 inches. Mr. Stewart, whose home is in Blue Ridge, and who goes back and forth daily to his duties here, informs us that the rain was most beneficial, proving of great benefit to corn and other crops.

Clyde Boone and wife of Dallas are the proud parents of a fine eight-pound baby boy, born June 6, in a Dallas hospital. The little fellow has been christened Joe Clyde Boone. The young father was formerly with Babcock Bros. here, at McKinney, but was transferred some months ago to Dallas by that firm. He is a worthy young business man. He and his young wife have the congratulations of many old home friends in McKinney on the arrival of their fine baby son.

Capt. H. G. Yopp, who has been head officer of the Farmersville Civilian Conservation Corps Camp, west of the East Collin city for several months, has retired from active Army service and is now living in Farmersville with his wife, on the inactive service list. Capt. J. W. McCune has been chosen as the new head of the camp. Both Capt. Yopp and Capt. McCune are fine Army men and have a number of friends in this county where the camp is located and has been engaged for a year in soil conservation work.

Mrs. C. T. English and pretty little two-year-old baby, Nancy, and her son, Billy Ver, have all returned to their home at Dallas after a visit to Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Childress, near Weston. Billy Ver, who is about eleven years old, will go right away to the Boy Scout camp on Lake Dallas to remain several weeks. Mrs. English is planning to go to New York on a visit soon.

Billy Boyce, 7-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Enos Boyce of this city, has been a patient in St. Paul's hospital in Dallas for the past week. According to latest word from her bedside the little girl has not shown any improvement. Her father is connected with the Southland Ice company in this city.

M'KINNEY MAN GOES SOON TO WEST TEXAS

Ben H. Oates is preparing to leave in the next three or four days for Silverton, Briscoe county, West Texas, where he owns more than 300 acres of good farm land and where he goes to help harvest his grain. While on the trip in West Texas, he will also visit his sister, Mrs. E. L. (Hawk) Daniels and family at Plainview. He expects to bring back to McKinney with him his sister, Miss Frances Oates, who went to Plainview several weeks ago, to sing at the wedding of her niece, Miss Ruth Daniels, formerly of McKinney. Miss Frances Oates has one of the best voices in our city. Since going to West Texas, she has been made large use of as soloist for different churches in that city, clubs, schools and in social affairs. One of the Plainview woman's clubs put on a program in Lubbock and featured the singing of this talented McKinney lady. Miss Oates recently visited for several days at the state capital at Austin, and several times was soloist at the First Baptist church there of which Campbell Wray is choir director. Our readers will remember that Mr. Wray, who is highly educated in music and has several university degrees is a son of Rev. and Mrs. C. H. Wray of Prosper in the western part of this county and a nephew of R. L. Ray of this city.

One of the best small onion crops that we have heard of this season is that made by Joe Smith on his choice little suburban farm that fronts on South Tennessee street and is located next to the J. S. Griffith's place that adjoins the Pecan Grove cemetery on the north. Mr. Smith harvested and sold 105 bushels of choice Bermuda onions from not more than a third of an acre of land. However, he had an acre patch elsewhere on his place from which the yield was only sixty-five bushels. Joe Smith is a good citizen, an industrious farmer, who understands how to manage and cultivate his land to the greatest possible advantage.

Henry C. Myrick, a successful McKinney business man and merchant, only salvaged six acres of his onion crop this year from the blight of late freezes that killed much of his crop after he had set out the plants in February. However, he has six acres from which he harvested a fairly good yield, although his stand was not a good one. His onions are of good quality, and the market this year is fairly satisfactory from the grower's standpoint.

W. W. Killian requests his Weekly Democrat-Gazette address to be changed from Clearlake to Wylie, Texas.

YOUR HOME TOWN

SEEN HERE AND THERE

These days are certainly warm and ofttimes provoking, but, just the same, we choose the summertime in preference to winter . . . The office philosopher remarks that there may be some truth in the claim that a woman's intuition often surpasses masculine logic . . . Miss Teagie Fullen, attractive and efficient operator at the Basement Beauty shop, being kept busy with many customers waiting . . . Rev. G. B. Bradshaw, pastor, says the North Baptist revival is growing in interest and attendance daily . . . Don't forget: Tomorrow is Flag Day . . . Members of the "Fourth Estate" are anticipating a big time in Dallas from Thursday 'till Saturday; the occasion is the annual State Press Association convention . . . Ward Timmons, who is conducting a series of singing schools in this and neighboring counties this summer, says there is a revival of interest in good old-fashioned singing spreading over the country . . . Installation of newly-elected officers of St. John's Masonic lodge No. 51 A. F. & A. M. will be made Monday night, June 25; Roy L. Brockman is the incoming Worshipful Master . . . IN CALIFORNIA

We are in receipt of an interesting letter from our young friend, L. B. Burgess, efficient and well-liked carrier boy for the Daily Courier-Gazette for several years, who with his grandmother is spending this summer out in Los Angeles, California, with his mother. L. B. writes a most interesting letter. He says, in part: "I am having a good time, although I am a little homesick. Yesterday it rained and that is something unusual for it is the first time it had rained here in the past five months." L. B. visited in Hollywood recently, he tells us. He is popular among the younger set of McKinney and is a fine young high school student and athlete.

PICKLING DEMONSTRATION

At the home of Mrs. Williams of Verona a pickling demonstration was given recently by Miss Helen Dunlap to twelve club members and visitors. She demonstrated the making of brine cucumber pickles and the point to the members of the club that the curing of cucumbers is marked by an increased firmness and a change of color from pale green to dark or olive green. These changes are uniform throughout the perfectly cured specimen. So long as any portion of a pickle is whitish or apoque it is not perfectly cured. These demonstrations help to provide the tables with more of the delicacies wanted and also is so much more economical to the farm ladies.

JAYCEES PLAN ELABORATE 4TH JULY OBSERVANCE

Tentative plans for an elaborate Fourth of July observance in McKinney were made at Monday night's meeting of the McKinney Junior Chamber of Commerce, presided over by President Leo Spillman. President Spillman appointed W. P. (Billy) Abernathy as general chairman of the day with a number of other committees to be named soon.

An invitation will be extended by the local Jaycee group to the Dallas, and possibly other neighboring organizations, inviting them to be present and bring their softball, handball, golf and bowling teams to McKinney on that date to compete with local teams.

According to plans which are being worked out, the celebration will be an all-day affair, the observance culminating in a big picnic and barbecue that afternoon at some place near McKinney.

The July Fourth activities will be the local Jaycees' second annual anniversary celebration and is expected to prove one of the biggest of its kind ever held before in McKinney.

The Jaycees are now sponsoring their second annual golf tournament out at the Hill Crest country club, which commenced the past week-end and which will continue for several weeks, details of which were published in Monday's Daily Courier-Gazette.

A splendid report was heard Monday night from M. O. Bozeman, chairman of the traffic committee, who spoke of the various plans they are trying working on and who stated that city officials intended to try out the one hour time limit parking plan on East Louisiana street, east of the square.

COLLIN BLESSED THIS YEAR GOOD CROPS

Prof. Floyd Taylor of Lavon was in McKinney Thursday, mingling with the voters in the interest of his candidacy for District Clerk. He told a representative of this paper that one day recently he was in the largest onion patch that he ever saw. It was a short distance northeast of Wylie. It seemed that there might be 200 acres or more in the crop, and it was a good one too. Several hundred people were employed pulling, topping, crating and trucking these famous Collin county Bermuda onions to the railroad for shipment.

Prof. Taylor says that the people in the rural sections of the county are certainly all busy now in their fields—harvesting onions, harvesting small grain and in their cotton and corn fields. Many are also engaged in cutting and baling excellent hay crops.

Taking our county as a whole, according to his opinion, Collin is blessed with very fair crops of almost every kind, this year. He thinks we are a fortunate county.

Frisco Young Lady Gets Degree From Academy of Speech

On last Saturday evening at the Dallas Athletic club, Miss Louise McConnell received the degree of Bachelor of Oratory from the Dallas Academy of speech and Drama, of which school Mrs. Pearl Wallace Chappel is president. One year ago Miss McConnell received her senior diploma from this school. During the past year, while teaching a class at home, she has further pursued her studies, where she majored in church dramatics, making regular trips to Dallas each week, until the course was finished. Preparatory work toward this degree was done in two years of college work at C. I. A. and the teachers college at Denton.

Miss McConnell was the only student receiving a degree at this time, while seven seniors received diplomas at a banquet given by the alumni association.

Each student invited one guest for the banquet, Raymond Wood being the guest of Miss McConnell who gave the alumni toast to the seniors as follows. "We are not here to wish you happiness, wealth and long lives, for we know that is not within our power to give such things. These must be sought and gained through individual living. This is our sincere wish for you, that as you go your separate ways in life you will use your power and knowledge of our art to help raise the plains of society to a purer, higher standard.

"I have learned as my life grows older
And mine eyes have clearer sight,
That under each wrong somewhere,
Lies the root or right.
For each sorrow there is a purpose,
Oft by those rowing unguessed,
But a saure as the sun brings morning,
Whatever is, is best."

We take this refreshing drink to your honor, Seniors of 1934.

For next year Miss McConnell has been elected to teach in the Prosper school. She will also teach at Frisco. Her many friends congratulate her on her attainments and wish for her continued success in her life's work.

One thing that has been accomplished in this short time of which he as proud is the securing of canning plants from the State Board. Six of these will be set up at McKinney, Farmersville, Plano, Celina, Anna and Wylie. These, valued at $1500, were donated outright to the county and will remain in the community when relief work by the Federal and State governments shall have been concluded.

Subsistence Gardens.

Mr. Bickers states that there are 145 acres in public welfare subsistence gardens in this county. They range from 10 to 45 acres each in the above named towns and vicinities, all manned by relief clients or labor. The subsistence gardens furnish lots of fresh vegetables and food for the needy during the growing season. The canning plants will be operated on a scale pretentious enough to save the surplus products by canning and storing them away for use during the remainder of the year as needed. In addition to canning the products of these Public Welfare Board gardens, these canning plants will also operate for the farmers, who have surplus products that they want canned on the basis of forty per cent to the farmer and sixty per cent toll for the Welfare Board for furnishing the canning plant and the labor. However on canning beeves or other meat, the ratio is reversed—sixty per cent goes to the farmer—supplying the beef while forty per cent toll goes to the Public Welfare Board for its activities in the relief of the poor and the needy. All these canning plants will be supervised under the direction of the County Home Demonstration agent or her designated competent subsupervisors.

Two Cars Flour.

Another thing, Mr. Bickers said, that has been accomplished is the milling last week of two carloads of flour and storing it in relief headquarters in McKinney to be distributed among relief clients instead of giving them the money. By this method, more people can be fed and taken care of.

* * *

3,000 On Relief May 1st.

Mr. Bickers stated that on May 1, there were about 8,000 people on the relief rolls in this county. This number was reduced by one-fourth by June 1 and, since the latter date, another 1500 reduction has been made on account of the labor provided by the onion harvest. Doubtless, before days, some of these will have to go back on the relief rolls at the conclusion of the onion harvest later on.

* * *

Don't Employ Transient Labor.

Mr. Bickers stated that Collin farmers should in all cases give local labor in their respective communities the first chance at whatever work they may have to do. By all means, he urges them not to employ transient or out-of-the-county labor when local laborers can be procured and thus be taken from the relief rolls which lessen the burden on local town and county taxpayers and welfare workers.

* * *

To Move Family Here.

Mr. Bickers will move his wife and two children up to McKinney from Dallas now right away since public schools have closed in that city. He says that he likes McKinney and expects to make it his home. He has had considerable experience and training in the public relief work that has been placed in his hands for this county. He is very solicitious about the cooperation of all our citizenship in McKinney and over the county, because by such cooperation more practical benefits will be obtained from Federal relief organizations of a national and state character set up by National Congress and approved by the President for direct relief to the needy of the nation and for relief of unemployment of those able to work in our county.

* * *

County Chairman Asks Cooperation.

F. Dudley Perkins, the new chairman of the Collin County Board of Welfare and Employment assures us that he and his associates on the Board, with the assistance of County Supervisor Bickers, will leave no stone unturned to get all the funds, food and clothing they can possibly obtain for the relief of the needy in our county. Mr. Perkins very properly thinks that by harmonious cooperation, the unfortunate poor of our county can be afforded more timely and more adequate relief than they could possibly obtain if lack of harmony or good business discretion should prevail.

The other members of the County Board with Chairman Perkins are R. R. L. Miller, secretary, of Celina; George H. Jones of Farmersville; Milt Whisenant of Allen and Tom Airhart of Valdasta.

GOOD GRAIN CROPS ON LAND NEAR LEBANON

This editor recently visited on the big farm of Dr. W. T. Hoard, located on the West Collin pike four or five miles south of Frisco near Old Lebanon. The doctor has perhaps 250 acres of grain there ready to cut. It was mostly wheat. It appeared to be a fairly good crop and was ripe enough to combine (that is harvest and thresh). The doctor, who is one of McKinney's leading citizens and retired professional men, has been sick for a few days. But his big combine was already set out and rigged up ready to begin operation Friday in cutting and threshing his wheat crop.

As readers know ,the combine cuts and threshes the wheat in a single operation. The Hoard land grain is immediately trucked to Dallas and sold direct from the field.

About twenty acres of barley on the place was also ready to harvest and thresh.

Where the combine is used, the grain must reach a riper and drier stage than it does where it is cut by a self-binder and stands in the shock a few days or weeks perhaps to dry out and cure before being threshed.

Part of Dr. Hoard's farm was formerly infested with Johnson grass until three or four years ago when he commenced fighting it in earnest and now has some mighty good cultivating soil clean and free from the obnoxious grass pest.

He killed the grass out chiefly by plowing and otherwise preparing the soil during the hot mid-summer period of the year.

One advantage of harvesting with a combine is that it leaves most of the straw standing in the field to be plowed under and given back to the soil for whatever fertilizer benefit there may be in it. Also combining lessens expenses in both the harvesting and threshing process as compared with the cost of using a binder, shocking and later threshing with separator. However there is more risk of damage to grain by wet weather, or wind, where the grain is permitted to stand in the field until it is thoroughly dry and "dead ripe" so as combine the grain without damaging it in the current markets.

RELIEF GIVEN DROUTH AREAS

Additional relief funds poured out to drouth-stricken states from Washington Sunday as Federal officials worked through the week-end on the varied program for alleviating distress.

Relief Administrator Harry L. Hopkins announced the apportionment of $1,300,000 to five states for use in work relief projects by farmers and city dwellers which will center on water and food conservation.

Nevada received $50,000. Colorado $500,000. Illinois $500,000, Arizona $100,000 and New Mexico $150,000. With the exception of New Mexico the grants, all of which are outright gifts, were the first to be allotted to these states.

DR. CHAS. W. ESTES AND DAUGHTERS VISIT M'KINNEY

Dr. Chas. W. Estes and daughters, Misses Eleanor and Anna Lou, of Denton, visited some of their numerous friends in McKinney Saturday. Miss Eleanor remained over as week-end guest of Contractor George B. Hughes and wife. Mrs. Armyn McKinney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hughes, also arrived from Denison to join her friend, Miss Essex, on their McKinney visit. Dr. Estes was for several years the pastor of the Central Presbyterian church of this city. Under his pastorate its present substantial and beautiful new brick church plant was erected. He is serving his fourth year as pastor of the Central Presbyterian church in Denton. Besides being active in church work in its every phase, Dr. Estes has always taken an active interest in civic ways wherever he serves as pastor. As an evidence of this, he is at the present time, President of the Denton County Jersey Cattle club and is also President of the 4-H club of Denton county fair and a loyal and effective worker in the Denton county fair.

Dr. Estes knows good Jerseys and loves to breed them. He now has the nucleus of a nice little herd of registered female stock. By reference to our classified advertising columns you may see that he would be willing to sell them or trade them for a small acreage in or near McKinney, which he might improve as a future permanent home for himself and family. Practically all of these Jerseys of Dr. Estes originally came from Collin and Collin county foundation stuff.

Dr. W. T. Hoard, extensive Collin county farm owner, continues quite ill at his home on the corner of North Benge and West Lamar streets. His condition is thought to be slowly improving.

LEON EUBANKS PASSES EXAMS TO NAVAL SCHOOL

A. H. Eubanks, McKinney banker, and wife received a telegram this (Saturday) morning from their son, Leon, announcing his successful passing of all physical examinations and of his entering the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis Friday. Young Mr. Eubanks, who will now be "Midshipman" Eubanks, has been preparing himself for the past several months for entrance to the United States Naval Academy and announcement of his entering that great naval school is pleasing news not only to his parents, but to his many friends in this city and community. Leon is a splendid young man, of many admirable traits of character, who his friends predict will successfully make his work in the naval school.

Leon was president of the Senior class in the McKinney High school and had one year in North Texas State Teachers college at Denton before entering prep school at Annapolis some months ago, at the conclusion of which he successfully passed the educational tests. Leon was appointed to the cadetship by Congressman Sam Rayburn. He follows in this cadetship the footsteps of two former McKinney boys—one of them Henry A. Wiley, who retired 2 or 3 years ago as admiral of the highest rank in the American Navy. The other is now captain Jno. S. Dowell Jr. who entered Annapolis more than 30 years ago, and who is now stationed at the Naval War college at Providence, R. I. Both of these McKinney boys shed lustre on their home city and we are predicting that Leon Eubanks will do likewise in the course of his career in the navy, which is now officially beginning.

Mrs. Uel D. Crosby and two attractive little children, Ruth Marie, 4, and Nancy Lou, 2, of Ralls, Texas, have been spending the past few days in McKinney, the guests of their parents and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Bailey. They arrived Monday for their visit and will go to Fort Worth Saturday where they will meet their husband and father, Rev. Uel D. Crosby and where they will visit his parents, Rev. R. A. Crosby and wife. Rev. Uel D. Crosby has been spending this week in Abilene in a training school. Mrs. Crosby will be remembered by her many friends in this county as Miss Opal Bailey. Rev. Uel D. Crosby is pastor of the First Methodist church at Ralls.

Judge Claude Isbell of Rockwall was in McKinney Wednesday on a short visit. He is serving his fourth term as County Judge of Rockwall county and is now a candidate for the State Senate from this district. He is making an active campaign for the honor and expects to make his formal announcement in this paper right away.

Editorial Expression

COLLIN COUNTY IDEAL FOR DAIRYING.

Some of our Collin county farmers seem to dwell under the impression that successful dairying cannot be carried on in a Southern state. Perhaps that opinion is formed from the fact that Wisconsin, Iowa and other northern states are heralded far and wide as dairy states.

One who has lived in Wisconsin, for instance, can quickly see why that state jumped to the front as a dairying center. Geographic conditions, not ideal to good farming but adverse, forced the farmers of Wisconsin into dairying.

About thirty years ago, there was a sudden immigration of foreigners into Northern Wisconsin. They were mostly Swedes, Norwegians, Germans and other Northern European people who rushed into that state to buy the cheap cut-over lands after the lumber companies had taken the timber off.

The land was hilly and poor. It wasn't the deep, rich, black land we have here in Collin county, but light and stony and covered with stumps. To raise wheat or corn for money crops would have meant starvation, but hay would grow prolifically among the stumps and stones. Those foreigners were thrifty and smart, they realized that the only way to make money off their farms was to stock them with good dairy cows, raise feed crops and live on the cash from their cream checks. Those farmers have not only lived well, but they have turned that poor cut-over land into some of the finest farms in America, and it was done purely through dairying, even though they were handicapped by cold weather and short seasons.

Another town, Wylie, located in a good farming section of Southeast Collin, has learned the clear advisability of planting and raising home gardens, for home use. Wylie now has a large number of good gardens planted during the spring by her citizens for the purpose of raising vegetables for home use. The depression has greatly added to the garden growers in this section. City folks have found out that the black land on which their property is located can produce just as well as the black land in the rural sections, and they are taking advantage of the opportunity therein presented. McKinney has, we believe, more good gardens per home than any city of its size in Texas. We grow fresh vegetables of all kinds and like 'em. Truck farming in the rural districts is also becoming more extensive every year. Our farmers have found that a truck patch means additional dollars if properly planted, cared for and the products properly handled and disposed of. More power to the garden growers of Collin county.

Onion harvest in Collin county has become quite an important industry for labor about this time of the year, each June. Hundreds of men, women and children are employed in the onion fields, pulling, topping, crating and trucking the product to the railroads for shipment to the larger cities of the country or to the ports for exporting. Many of these fine yellow and crystal white Bermuda onions grown in this black land soil are stored and can be kept for months in cold storage, awaiting better prices and kept at a nominal expense for a more active demand. The North Texas Bermuda onions stand at the top of the list of all onion producing areas for food quality and desirability from a storage standpoint.

There are three sides to every dollar spent at home. One is that you get value received. The second is that the dollar is kept at home for someone else to spend—thus continually circulating as a medium of exchange. The third is that it helps the home business man who pays taxes and contributes to local enterprises. Keep your money at home where it can do triple duty.—Farmersville Times.

Many throughout Collin county honor the memory of the late H. W. Ardinger, pioneer McKinney dry goods merchant, who, at the age of 90, died in Dallas the other day. Mr. Ardinger conducted one of the most popular mercantile businesses of our city, for several years back in the eighties. He was a Chesterfield by nature and a man of strictest integrity and highest honor.

Princeton Independent school is now an affiliated eleven-grade school. Prof. E. L. Gantt has been superintendent for a couple of years and has been re-elected for a third year. He is a well qualified young educator, who believes in efficiency and the best of facilities, as well as the best in the way of teaching, for the schools of our country.

You need not have any doubts about finding complete stocks of seasonable merchandise in McKinney stores. Our merchants are alert, progressive, buy right and can sell in competition with legitimate merchandise anywhere. Shop in McKinney.

HAROLD GAY AND MISS STRODE ARE MARRIED

Saturday evening at 8 o'clock Miss Edith Strode became the bride of Mr. Harold Gay in a beautiful and simple ceremony at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Strode. The guests assembled in the living room which was attractively decorated with baskets of garden flowers in pastel shades, and lighted with tall white tapers. Floor baskets of Columbia roses and cascades of Boston ferns formed the altar. At the appointed hour the bride and groom entered, unattended, to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march played by Mrs. Hardy Cook, sister of the bride. They were met at the altar by Rev. Minor Bounds, pastor of the groom, who read the impressive ring ceremony. The bride wore a travel tuit of navy sheer, shell pink trim, navy accessories and a corsage of pink rosebuds.

Following the ceremony the guests were invited into the dining room where refreshments of punch and tiny individual bride's cakes were served. The table was laid with a cloth of Italian cut work. A large cut glass punch bowl graced the center and festoons of ferns and pink rosebuds led to either end of the oblong table where crystal candle sticks held tall white tapers.

Mrs. H. V. Straughan, sister of the bride, presided graciously at the punch bowl. Assisting in the dining room courtesies were Joan Margaret Straughan, Ann Emma Lucile and Charlotte Gay Montgomery, charming nieces of the bride and groom.

Following the reception the bride and groom left for a brief trip after which they will make their home in McKinney.

The bride is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Strode and the groom is the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. L. K. Gay, both families having lived in and near McKinney for many years. Those present for the ceremony were members of the immediate families of the bride and groom.

Demonstration Club At Union Action Group

The Union Home demonstration club held two well attended meetings, May 22 and June 5, the former being at the home of Mrs. Ross Shinn with eleven members present. Miss Helen Dunlap, home demonstration agent, met with the club and gave a fermented pickle demonstration, giving details of the brine and vinegar process of pickling. A very valuable point was brought in the brine pickling process showing how to determine the strength of brine. This may be done by dropping an egg into the brine water and if the egg floats the salt is sufficient. The club voted to buy a sealer, raising funds for same by making a friendship quilt.

The June 5 meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Frank Kirby.

J. A. Carrell has lately been repainting and otherwise improving his McKinney city rent property. Jim Carrell is a public spirited, useful citizen who is farming this year in the country three or four miles north of McKinney.

IN MEMORIAM

"Suffer little children to come unto me and forbid them not for of such is the kingdom of heaven."

Funeral services were held in the Chambersville church last Tuesday afternoon for Clyde Wilbur, little 22 months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Moss Connor whose death occurred at McKinney hospital from injuries received in a collision on Sunday afternoon. Services were conducted by Rev. A. H. Snider of McKinney assisted by Rev. A. L. Clinkenbeard of Dallas, Rev. Evans of Frisco and Rev. R. L. Lefevre of McKinney. C. M. Bryan of McKinney led the choir in singing comforting hymns. A quartet composed of Billie Wallis, Sherley Jean Taylor, Elbert Roberts and Edwin Dickenson sang "In that City Foursquare," with Miss Moore accompanist. The church was filled with friends who gathered with bowed heads and stricken hearts to offer love and sympathy but how inadequate are words but the greatest consolation is that he is safe in the arms of Him who said "Let the children come to me." There is a hush, a sadness, a silence, baby Clyde Wilbur is gone. Like a flower in the garden he bloomed for a short time, pure and innocent, giving pleasure to his parents, grandparents and little sister, Dorcas Jean and friends. The mysterious thoughts of death seem beyond understanding but we know that children have missed life's temptations, are free from the perils of sin and are so ready to enter the doors of Paradise and little Clyde Wilbur has joined his little sister, Ethel Louise, where there is no night. Pallbearers were H. S. Wysong, Otis Close, John Lacy and Floyd H. Priest. The Isaac Crouch Funeral home had charge of funeral arrangements and the little white casket was placed beneath a canopy of flowers in Chambersville cemetery. Our sympathy is extended to the young parents, the baby sister, the grandparents here and the ones in far away Kentucky, who were not able to be here to comfort their children.

SOME ONION HARVESTERS ARE EXPERTS ON JOB

AS RULE GOOD COTTON PICKERS MAKE BEST ONION HARVESTERS

Onion harvest time is on in the onion fields around McKinney, Princeton, Farmersville, Melissa, Allen, Wylie, Copeville, Lavon, Josephine, Nevada and Plano.

However, the harvest will not be in full blast for probably a week yet. While it is on, employment is provided for lots of people, men, women and children. Truck men are needed to transport the sacks or crates to the loading points on the railroad.

Probably, Collin county's onion growing area will send out from 750 to 1,000 carloads to the markets of the North and East this season.

Good cotton pickers are counted the best onion harvesters and at the rate of 5c a bushel which they receive some of the more skilled workers earn more than $5 a day. Whole families engage in the effort during the cooler hours they bend backs over the long rows whisking the great round white onions from the ground. While the sun is beating down they sit and clip tops and roots from the onions with shears. That completed they drop the onions into meshed sacks or crates. The crate supply has been short and since the onions now always are shipped in sacks to save space that method is being followed for the most part. Checkers follow in the wake of the harvest and mark the sacks that then are tied for loading and at evening the workers gather for their pay.

REV. R. L. FLOWERS AND WIFE CLOSE PLANO REVIVAL

EVANGELISTS SOON TO HOLD MEETING AT PROSPER

Rev. and Mrs. R. L. Flowers, of Denton, closed a successful Methodist revival meeting at Plano Sunday night. The meeting, held at the city auditorium, proved most successful with other denominations in that South Collin town closing their services Sunday night and attending the Methodist meeting. Mrs. Flowers left Saturday for Honey Grove, where they will hold a two weeks' revival and where she preached Sunday. Following that meeting they will return to Prosper to conduct a revival for Rev. W. D. Craig, Methodist pastor at that place.

Rev. and Mrs. Flowers held a revival in Plano some seventeen years ago. Twelve years ago they held a successful meeting at the First Methodist church in McKinney. The Plano revival proved of great benefit to the entire community, all other churches cooperating with the Plano Methodists in the meeting.

This is the third time Rev. and Mrs. Flowers have held revivals for Rev. Thomas, Plano Methodist minister.

H. W. Flanery, who lives in the Lone Star school community, north of Weston, was in town Saturday. He reports both his wheat and oat crops as being light this year. MELISSA HAS EXCELLENT SMALL TOWN BANK

HEADED BY J. E. GIBSON AND HAMP WYSONG—BUSY SEASON

One of the very best banks in the state in a small town is the bank at Melissa of which J. E. Gibson is president and Hamp Wysong is cashier. Fred Ogilvie is assistant cashier and Miss Alice Douglas is the efficient bookkeeper. The high standard of citizenship represented in these officials would make a success of any business undertaking. They are all rated among the leaders of every good work—material, financial, educational and religious of their town and scope of surrounding territory supporting it. Hamp Wysong's genial smile and good natured banters makes him a favorite among a circle of friends that spread out over the entire county. He is universally popular. Everybody likes big-hearted Hamp Wysong. These two ecitors are proud to claim his friendship and that also of all the other Melissa Bank officials, employes and stockholders. Melissa is now being considerably enlivened by the "onion deal," as that section has developed in recent years into an expanding Bermuda growing area.

DENTON FORGES AHEAD JERSEY BREEDING CENTER

Harry Marsh, formerly of El Reno, Oklahoma, has acquired an interest in the Kenilworth Jersey Farm, at Denton, where he is now located, and which herd he will be in charge of in the future.

Mr. Marsh is one of the best known Jersey cattle breeders and fanciers of the Southwest. He was formerly field man for the American Jersey Cattle club for the states of Oklahoma, Texas, Arkansas, Kansas and Missouri. He has a number of good friends among Jersey breeders of Collin county, who note with gratification his permanent location in our state and in the adjoining county to us. The Jersey breed will be distinctively helped by his addition to the Texas fanciers of that popular dairy breed of cattle.

The Kenilworth Farm, at Denton, of which Rudy Copeland is principal owner, recently acquired the most valuable portion of a noted Nashville, Tennessee, Jersey herd of imported cattle. One of the animals is a fine imported sire sold to them for $750. This gives Denton county the distinction of perhaps having the largest imported Jersey herd of cattle in the entire Southwest.

Another Denton man, John Underwood, the owner of another excellent registered Jersey herd at that place with some imported cattle in it, is serving his second year as President of the Texas Jersey Cattle club.

Denton has indeed become quite a registered Jersey cattle breeding center both as a town and county.

FIRST SUBSISTENCE HOMES OPEN IN WEST VIRGINIA

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, wife of the president, on last Thursday was a speaker at the first subsistence project opening at Reedsville, West Virginia. Fifty shining new little houses stood on the hillside, waiting only the final wording of the contracts and the turning on the electric power which runs fifty homes for fifty families.

After an opening message filled with rejoicing that a dream less than ten months old was so fast in coming true, the President's wife went into a closed conference with her friends the homesteaders.

Already she had talked to an outside crowd numbering thousands when she stepped into a crowded room, where every face was intent, every eye earnest. These were the pioneers, in whose destinies the President and his wife have taken a shaping hand.

The applause they gave Mrs. Roosevelt was so deep for the size of the crowd that it seemed to come from the heart rather than the hands.

"One We All Love."

Andy Goldstrom, president of the Reedsville Experimental Community, introduced Mrs. Roosevelt as "one whom we all love, and with her husband, deeply respect."

"Though you may be a little discouraged," he told the group, "think of our President and his wife, and take hope."

Mrs. Roosevelt introduced Mrs. Harold L. Ickes, wife of the Interior Secretary, and told the homesteaders she hoped some time to bring the Secretary himself.

"I am so interested and pleased to see how you have come on since the last time I was here—then it was cold and snowing," she said, "but now everything is just coming along.

"I know there are going to be hard times, but if you work together, I'm sure you will succeed.

"I want you to succeed, not only for yourselves but for what it will mean to people everywhere, North, South, East and West, who are starting similar projects.

"You are the first, and your success will hearten these people. Some of them have worse troubles than you, for they are building their own houses and will make [illegible]

INTERESTING REPORTS AT C. OF C. MEET

Some interesting reports featured the regular monthly meeting of the McKinney Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors, held Friday afternoon in the local C. of C. rooms, presided over by President Jas. H. Merritt. Among those making reports were Leo Spillman, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce; A. H. Eubanks, chairman of the Good Roads committee; and president of the Collin County Free Fair association; A. M. Scott, chairman of the Membership committee; County Judge J. Frank Harrington on county affairs, Mayor Joe E. Largent on city affairs and Secretary W. Hammond Moore, who also discussed the county fair.

In his report of Junior Chamber activities, President Spillman declared that that organization's major activity now is to advertise the Collin County Free fair. The Jaycees will also help redecorate the coliseum for that annual event. He called attention to the fact that Jaycee officers will be elected this month for another six minths term. The Traffic committee is still functioning. The Jaycees, he said, plan to sponsor a golf tournament out at Hill Crest Country club, beginning tomorrow, June 10.

Goods Roads Progress.

A. H. (Hardy) Eubanks, chairman of the Good Roads committee, declared that work is progressing nicely on No. 6 and 75. He explained that the work order has already been given on improving Highway No. 24 from Fairview on No. 5 & 75, south of McKinney, to the Mill Turner corner.

Machinery is on the ground down at the underpass, to cut back the dark corners so that motorists can see from one end to the other, and eliminating what many have termed a mental hazard.

He called attention to another meeting of the Highway 24 association, of which he is head, which will be held at Crosby, Texas, 324 miles west of here on June 26. He spoke of the enthusiasm of residents all along this route throughout Texas. It was his opinion that the move to secure Federalization of No. 24 has every merit in the world.

Mr. Eubanks who is president of the Collin County Free Fair association, declared that plans are going forward for that annual event this fall and that it will be extensively advertised.

Fair Interest Grows.

Secretary W. Hammond Moore declared that interest in the fair is growing daily He referred to the prizes to be given away by Lemon Caldwell, manager of the Collin County Mill & Elevator Co., to club women in various contests, including making cakes, light bread and excellency in other cuisine arts. Mr. Caldwell, he said, plans on giving away six big barrels of flour, six 48-pound sacks of flour and numerous other worthwhile prizes in order to stimulate interest in the fair.

Secretary Moore also reported that a runway will be constructed in the coliseum where young ladies, members of 4-H clubs, will stage style shows for the benefit of the county fair patrons, wearing clothes that they have made themselves. He added that a big barbecue is being planned for all livestock men in the county one day during the county exposition, when raisers of fine horses, cattle, sheep, hogs and poultry will come together at some spot outside the city for a real old fashioned barbecue and good time. Cabell's, he said, will furnish ice cream free for that occasion.

Membership Grows.

A. M. Scott, chairman of the Membership committee ,reported on the progress of his committee, making a commendable and worthwhile report that elicited the applause of his co-directors. The committee, he said, is much encouraged over the hearty response they have been given in their canvass the past several weeks.

County Judge J. Frank Harrington, reporting on the county affairs, discussed Highway 24, briefly, stressing its advantages to this and other counties along the route.

In regard to the improvements going forward on Highway 6 and 75 south of McKinney, he declared that work is going forward satisfactorily on three bridges along that route, over Cottonwood, Rowlett and Spring creeks, three crews being at work on this phase of highway construction. The bridges, he said, will be ready in ample time for the highway opening.

Road Closed.

Judge Harrington declared that the highway from McKinney to Plano is now blocked from the underpass, just south of this city, to Plano, and that it is impossible for anyone now to traverse that road. The big shovel and other machinery arrived at the underpass Friday, work to start Saturday on taking the dirt out from either side. This will enable motorists to see from one end of the underpass to the other.

JOE M. MOORE LIEUT.-GOVERNOR CLUBS ORGANIZING

Mayor Joe E. Largent and Walter B. Wilson of this paper made a tour of several points in the county, Thursday afternoon, in the interest of Senator Joe M. Moore-Lieutenant-Governor clubs that are being organized in this county.

Mayor Largent is the county chairman. It is hoped to organize Joe Moore clubs in every voting box in the county, so he says, as Collin is in Moore's home Senatorial district, which is lining up almost solidly for his candidacy.

During his eight years in the State Senate, Mr. Moore has established a statewide reputation for ability and fidelity in serving the people of the state in the upper branch of their state legislative halls at Austin.

North Texas is entitled to the honor as it has not furnished a governor or lieutenant-governor either for many years.

Senator Moore is excellent timber for the Lieutenant-Governorship, or even for the Governorship, as for that matter, and would render outstanding service to Texas if his friends succeeded in electing him.

Messrs. Largent and Wilson, in their rounds, visited Melissa, Anna, Weston, Celina, Prosper and Frisco. Nowhere did they hear anything but favorable sentiment relative to Senator Moore's candidacy

Hon. J. D. (Jim) Lyons of near Westminster in Northeast Collin called in Tuesday, and authorized the Daily Courier-Gazette and Weekly Democrat-Gazette to place his name in their announcement columns for the office of Local Representative from Collin county subject to the Democratic Primary election of July 28. Mr. Lyons is a very intelligent, well read farmer, whose friends believe that he would make a useful and faithful tribune of the people in the House of Representatives at our state capital, if elected. Mr. Lyons plans to make an aggressive campaign for the honor.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Reinhardt of Fort Worth spent Sunday in McKinney visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Bagwill, and attending the Wilson family reunion at Finch park.

M'KINNEY C. OF C. GETS "BOOK OF THE SOUTH"

The Chamber of Commerce of McKinney has received a copy of "The Book of the South," edited by John Temple Graves, II, and published by Protective Life Insurance company of Birmingham. It is a beautifully bound and handsomely printed volume of one hundred pages 9x12 inches with the name of McKinney Chamber of Commerce embossed in gold on the cover.

The book contains "The Story of the States," a sketch of each of the southern states written in Mr. Graves inimitable way and beautifully illustrated by Evelyn Hinman Smith. On the state of Texas, Mr. Graves says among other things, "Titan among all the states, Texas commands an area of 265,896 square miles. It covers more than eight per cent of the entire United States. It is bigger than France and Bulgaria combined. Its annual cotton crop of some 5,000,000 bales is far in excess of that of any other state and accounts for approximately a third of the American total. Its population of 5,824,217 is exceeded only by that of New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois and Ohio. It has more cattle, sheep and mules than any other state; more horses than any others save Iowa and Minnesota. It is the leading petroleum producing state. It is the only state now mining sulphur. It is the source of the world's supply of helium gas. Its annual exports are second only to those of New York. Its 16,909 miles of railway surpass those of any other state. It is an empire with 400 miles of seacoast, an estimated wealth of eleven billion dollars, and history unique in all the annals of America."

The book commemorates the Silver Anniversary of the Protective Life Insurance company and contains the story of the founding and sturdy, remarkable growth of this strong southern company.

Mrs. Myrtle McCollum, who has been a patient in the City hospital for several days, continues to improve.

FRANK REEDY WRITES ABOUT MISS KENDRICK

Gus. W. Thomason, writing in the Southwestern Advocate, Dallas, contributes the following interesting news matter, concerning Frank Reudy's recent visit to the tomb of Miss Ruby Kendrick in Korea. Miss Kendrick was born and reared at Plano where her relatives still live. Mr. Ready also lived at Plano in his younger days. Mr. Thomason and Mr. Ready were both prominent in State Epworth League circles, both having been president of the state organization in the earlier years of its activities. Frank Ready was conducting one of his world tours and when he got to Korea he visited the mission where Miss Ruby served and where her lamented death occurred some years ago.

* * *

Miss Ruby Kendrick

Epworth Leaguers of other days who are familiar with the life work of Ruby Kendrick, who went from Texas to Korea and died as a missionary in that field in 1907, will be interested in a letter written by Brother Frank Reedy, who is at this time on a world tour and recently visited Korea. Under the date of April 12 and from Grand Hotel De Djoka Djoka (Java) he writes:

"With certain memories and important plans in mind, I visited Union Mission at Keijo, old (Scoul), Korea, and hunted up friends of our Ruby Kendrick. They told me her whole life story and concluded by describing her tomb on the bank of the big river, admittedly a beautiful spot and guaranteed that it is well kept up. Often they of the Mission decorate it and make special visitations to it. I can testify to the fact that she is much loved and not forgotten. Her schoolmates and fellow missionaries treat her memory as the Catholics do their saints. Tell the Epworth Leaguers.

(Signed) FRANK REEDY."

What a flood of memories this mention of Ruby Kendrick brings to this writer and what a flood of memories it will bring to all who knew Ruby Kendrick. I can vision her, now, as she stood before that vast throng of people, 5,000 or more, gathered in the auditorium at Epworth-by-the-Sea, on that Sunday afternoon, in a great farewell service to her, just before sailing for Korea, and can hear her lead in that song, "I'll Go Where You Want Me to Go," and speak of the joy that she felt in being permitted to carry the message of a Christian gospel to a heathen nation.

The reference to her schoolmates comes from the fact that she had to learn the Korean language after going to Korea.

Following her tragic death in 1908, money was raised by Texas Leaguers for the purchase and erection of a Texas granite tombstone and when it was erected there was engraved on it these words, taken from the letter she had written to be read before the Leaguers of the North Texas Conference Epworth League, convening that your at Denison, Texas, and which letter was read following the announcement on the day before of her death in Korea, namely, "If I had a thousand lives to give, Korea should have them all."

What an inspiration her life has been to the countless young men and women of Texas and what an influence the story of her life has had throughout our church since her passing, only eternity can tell

All who knew Ruby Kendrick will be grateful to Brother Frank Reedy for his message.

However, she completed her work on it about the first of the year, since which time she has been teaching in the Jacksboro Public schools and has been re-elected to the same position again next year. Miss Eleanor's brother, Charles Morris Estes, also received his B. S. degree from the same college at the same time recently as did his sister. This brother and sister attended public school in McKinney for several years during their earlier childhood, while their father was stationed here as Pastor of the Central Presbyterian church.

Mrs. George Cox of Longview visited her brother, H. D. Mouzon Jr., and wife in McKinney Sunday and also the parents of her husband, Mr. and Mrs. A. M Cox. Her husband is one of the pitchers for Longview in West Dxlie League and with the exception of two games has won every game that he has pitched thus far this season. George was a star pitcher for McKinney during his high school days, here.

See Frank G. Dowell of the McKinney Realty company about 250 acres good land; once refused $200 an acre. Extra good land, 50 acres Bermuda pasture. It's black land with some Johnson and Bermuda grass on it. It's clear, $40 an acre will buy. Clean it up and make $60 an acre on it. See Dowell.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas D. Hugnston and children of Hillsboro came up to McKinney over the week-end for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edd G. West, and his parents, Judge and Mrs. Wallace Hughston. Mr. Hughston returned to Hillsboro, Sunday, but his wife and their two children, Thomas, 7, and Edward, 5, are remaining for a few days longer with McKinney relatives.

Editor F. C. Thompson was recently notified of a near serious accident happening to his little three-year-old granson, Jack Thompson Brandt, in Houston, in which the little fellow suffered a broken leg. The little victim is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Brandt. The accident occurred when the little fellow innocently ran in front of a motor truck that was pulling into the yard of the Brandt home for some purpose.

Second Annual Wilson Family Reunion Held At Finch Park Sunday With Nearly 200 Present; Paul K. Wilson, President

The second annual Wilson family reunion was held down in beautiful Finch park, Sunday, June 10, with one hundred seventy-five members of that family, from widely scattered sections of Texas, in attendance.

Arrangements for this enjoyable event were in charge of Paul K. Wilson descendant of both of the two wings of the Wilson family, early pioneer settlers of Collin county, who joined in the celebration, Paul being president of the group.

A most enjoyable and sumptuous noonday repast was spread on long tables beneath the pretty pecan trees of that natural woodland playground. The dinner was thoroughly enjoyed by everyone in attendance and much was left over after all had freely partaken.

Perhaps the oldest ones present were Mr. and Mrs. W. A. (Billy) Straughan of Fort Worth, while one of the youngest was Willemine Booher, attractive little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Booher of Galveston.

Following dinner, Mr. Wilson invited all those present to the bandstand where interesting talks were made by different relatives and where a brief impromptu program was given by some of the tiny tots and kiddies present for the occasion. In each instance decided talent was evident.

Members of the family were present not only from McKinney but from Fort Worth, Galveston, Sherman, Princeton, Willis Chapel, Chambersville, Anna, Ringgold and Durant, Okla.; Paris, Houston, Plano Abilene and Farmersville.

At the first annual reunion, held at Finch Park last year, the occasion was made an annual event and permanent organization effected, with Paul K. Wilson, president, and Prof. Elborn Gantt, superintendent of the Princeton schools, secretary.

Prominent in Collin History.

The first Wilson to arrive in McKinney, or where McKinney was later established, was the late George A. Wilson, an early sheriff of Collin county, a Mexican War soldier, who came here from Tennessee in 1842, in the days of the Republic of Texas, which did not become a state in the Union until 1845. His arrival antedated the establishment and organization of the county by four years and that of the establishment of the McKinney town site by six years.

About six years later, George A. Wilson returned to Tennessee and brought his parents, brothers and sisters back to Texas with him, the family settling near McKinney. The parents, Addison Wilson and wife, settled in what is now known as the Ash Grove community, where their youngest son, A. M. (Uncle Gus) Wilson, is still living, on their old family homestead. The parents are buried on the farm, near their old original home. Another brother was T. B. Wilson, whose widow and son were present, the son being City Commissioner Add G. Wilson, who is also president of the Central State bank, and one of our county's most extensive and successful farm owners and business men. George A. Wilson, who died many years ago, also had the following children present: T. Ben Wilson of Princeton, Mrs. W. A. Straughan of Fort Worth; George M. Wilson and Postmaster Wallace C. Wilson; Mrs. J. WILSON FAMILY REUNION NOTES

Prof. Fred O. Wilson, wife and little one-year-old daughter, Angeline Kincaid, of Sherman, were active participants in the reunion. Fred is the youngest son of the late Prof. T. M. Wilson and wife and a brother of Paul K. Wilson. Prof. Wilson, who is highly educated, has been teaching in the Sherman High school for five years and has been re-elected for next year. He is principal of the summer high school at Sherman, this year. He has given considerable attention to research in Wilson family antecedents. His brief talk was very interesting, tracing its history in part from earliest colonial settlement of our country.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Straughan, who live at 2907 Wilkerson street, Fort Worth, were among the older persons present. W. A. Straughan was born on the site of what is now the Miss Fannie Waddill home on West Lamar street, March 10, 1852, being now in his eighty-third year. His father, the late Jordan O. Straughan, of McKinney, was one of the earlier district clerks of Collin county, who died here many years ago. Two of W. A. Straughan's sisters were also present Sunday at the reunion. They are Mrs. Alma Wilson, a widow of McKinney and Mrs. T. Ben Wilson of Princeton. Their husbands were sons of George A. Wilson, Mrs. T. Ben Wilson's husband is still living and was also present at the reunion.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe O. Wilson of Princeton and two sons enjoyed the reunion. Roscoe O. Wilson is a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Book Wilson of McKinney. His two sons, Russell Wilson and George Wilson, came with them. Russell Wilson is a McKinney High school graduate of the spring class of 1933. He recently came home after completing his freshman year at Texas A. & M. college where he is taking the Agricultural Administration course. His younger brother, George, only sixteen, is a student in the McKinney High school. Although George is quite young, he already measures six feet and one inch in height.

* * *

Everett O. Slaughter, wife and six children of Anna, enjoyed meeting many new relatives whom they did not know before. Mrs. Slaughter was formerly Miss Annie Laura Wilson of McKinney, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Book Wilson. Her husband budded 300 young pecan trees on their land. The buds came from Wolfe's Pecan Nursery, at Stephenville, Texas. W. D. Sims, of the Pecan Division of the State Department of Agriculture, came up to the Slaughter farm, May 9, and gave a pecan budding demonstration that was attended by about twenty-five interested people in and around Anna. They were budded to the paper shell variety.

* * *

I. E. Wallis of the Wallis Chapel community attended the reunion. His mother, Mrs. Melissa Wallis, came in with him but remained at the bedside of her daughter, Miss Iva Wallis, a patient in the City hospital, here, where she underwent a surgical operation a few days ago.

* * *

E. L. Wallis, prominent Wallis Chapel farmer, was among the Wilson descendants at the reunion. His mother, now deceased, was a sister of A. M. (Uncle Gus) Wilson and the late George A. and T. B. Wilson. The county has no finer citizen than Elmer Wallis. He is a director of the Melissa bank.

* * *

Walter Wallace Wilson and wife mingled with the reunion crowd. He is a son of Mrs. Alma Wilson and a brother of John K. Wilson, the undertaker at Princeton. John K. Wilson was prevented from attending by a funeral that he was in charge of Sunday.

* * *

Willie R. Wallis, wife and daughter, Pauline, who was eleven years old on June 11, attended the reunion. Willie R. Wallis is a son of the late Henry Wallis, a brother of Elmer Wallis. Willie R. Wallis says that he never saw better prospects for corn and cotton at this season in his community than at the present time. However, he hopes that corn will get a good rain on it before many days.

* * *

J. Willis Neal, successful Princeton banker, wife and daughter, Miss Ruth, enjoyed the day in beautiful Finch Park. Mrs. Neal was formerly Miss Mattie Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. Ben Wilson. Mr. Neal states that onion harvest is keeping people in his little town and vicinity unusually busy these days. He considers onion prices of eighty-five cents to $1.10 per bushel to be a fairly satisfactory market.

* * *

C. F. Booher, wife and pretty little baby daughter, Willielmine, came all the way from Galveston to be at the reunion. Willielmine was born on the 27th of last September. She looks to be a perfect specimen for a baby of her age. Her father is an auditor in the Santa Fe Railway office in Galveston. Her mother was formerly Miss Mary Seay Wilson, a native of McKinney and a sister of Paul K. Wilson.

* * *

G. A. Wilson and wife came down from Durant, Oklahoma, to attend the reunion. G. A. was born and reared in McKinney as was also his wife. G. A. is in the bakery business at Durant, where he likes fine. He is a brother of Paul K. Wilson.

* * *

Walter B. Gantt, wife and two children, Ben Ed and Joe Jack, attended the reunion, but they didn't bring along their little ten months old baby daughter, Alice Ann, who is a namesake of Mrs. Alice Wilson, the wife of T. Ben Wilson of Princeton. The baby's mother is also a namesake of Mrs. Wilson.

* * *

Mrs. J. D. Leech of Mesquite, about six miles south of Farmersville, was among the Wilson descendants present. She was formerly Miss Willie Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. Ben Wilson of Princeton, where she was born and reared. Her children, Royce, Landrum, James and Oleta, came with their mother to enjoy the day in pretty Finch Park.

* * *

City Commissioner Add G. Wilson, who is also president of the Central State bank of this city, wife and three children, helped make the reunion a success again this year. Their three children, Tom B., Addison G. Jr., and Evelyn, the latter seven years old, were all present. Add G. Wilson's mother, Mrs. T. B. Wilson, was also present. Add's father, the late T. B. Wilson, was one of our county's most successful business men and wealthiest citizens when he passed away about twenty years ago. He was a surveyor and a large landowner. His son, Addison G. Wilson, is an A. & M. college graduate, who is making a success in the business world and is one of our county's most useful and widely known citizens.

* * *

Mrs. Pearl Bagley Sneed attended the reunion. She was born and reared in McKinney, but until recently she hasn't lived here for a number of years. She is now a guest in the home of her niece, Mrs. Add G. Wilson, and husband. Mrs. Sneed is a daughter of the late ex-County Treasurer W. M. Bagley. The Bagley heirs still own the old family homestead located on South Tennessee street, adjoining the Coffman florist greenhouse. She renewed many old acquaintances during the day.

* * *

Among the recently married couples of Wilson descendants introduced were Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Moseley, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Ritter, the latter formerly Miss Ruby Massie, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Massie, the latter being formerly Miss Lelia Forshee.

* * *

M. C. Gantt, a veteran farmer living on his place, one mile north of Princeton, attended the reunion. His deceased wife was formerly Miss Lillie Wilson of McKinney. Several of his children were present at the reunion, among them being Postmaster J. R. Gantt of Princeton, Prof. Elburn L. Gantt, superintendent of Princeton schools; Mrs. Irma Littrell, one of the Chambersville school teachers, and Mrs. Wendell Moseley, formerly Miss Ruth Gantt, who is a bride of only a few days. Another son of Mr. Gantt present was Walter B. Gantt, a young Princeton business man.

* * *

Postmaster J. R. (Ray) Gantt of Princeton, wife and children were present. Mr. Gantt has been Postmaster at Princeton for thirteen years. He is feeling good over improved showing of his office. He recently got a thirteen-mile addition to his Free Rural Letter carrier route and has registered already a twenty-seven per cent increase in its post office receipts, at this time, as compared to a year ago. His three children present were Genevieve, Bobby and Jimmie C.

* * *

Mrs. D. W. Bagwill and husband, who were present, was formerly Miss Mattie Wilson, a sister of Walter B. and J. B. Wilson, who were both present. Mrs. Bagwill's out-of-town children, who came in for the reunion, were Mrs. Harold Reinhardt of Fort Worth, Mrs. R. O. Melton, residing southwest of McKinney, and Arthur A. Bagwill, editor and owner of two Collin county papers—the Plano Star-Courier and the Frisco Journal. Her son, Don W. Bagwill, is city editor of the Daily Courier-Gazette and Weekly Democrat-Gazette.

* * *

Mrs. John E. Wilson enjoyed the reunion and renewing her many acquaintances. Her daughters, Mrs. Otis Nelson, and husband and Mrs. Rufus A. Furr and husband were also present. Her granddaughter, Miss Madie Lee Furr, was likewise present. Madie Lee is a graduate of the North Texas State Teachers college and recently came home from Wortham where she taught school last year.

* * *

Postmaster Wallace C. Wilson of McKinney was a great help to Paul K. Wilson in arranging for the reunion. Mr. Wilson is one of our city's most useful and highly esteemed citizens. He is one of the vice-presidents of the Central State bank of which his cousin, Add G. Wilson, is president.

* * *

Paul K. Wilson was re-elected president of the Wilson family groups again for next year. This means that the annual reunion next year in Finch Park will be still bigger and better than ever before. Paul makes a go of everything he becomes interested in. He has been with the big J. P. Dowell Hardware & Furniture store for a number of years and also one of McKinney's efficient volunteer firemen.

* * *

Two of the three McKinney Examiner editors were present. J. Frank Smith and F. C. Thompson. Editor Smith's wife was formerly Miss Tollie Wilson, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. George A. Wilson and a sister of Postmaster Wallace C. Wilson. Editor Thompson, while not related by either affinity or consanguinity to the Wilsons, has nevertheless been intimately associated with them, socially and and in a business way, most of time for a half a century. He is always included in the invited list for their reunions. Both of these editors are veteran and successful Collin county newspapermen.

* * *

At least one set of twins attended the enjoyable occasion Sunday at Finch Park. They were Paul K. Wilson Jr. and Jim Thompson Wilson, 3-year-old sons of Mr. and Mrs. Paul K. Wilson, of this city. Paul K. and Jim Thompson are 100 per cent, young American boys and more than held their share of the spotlight of interest during Sunday's festivities. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson have another child, a daughter, Ann, 8, a talented young lady, who is very proud of her little twin brothers and who helps her mother care for them.

M'KINNEY FIRM MAKES CHURCH LIBERAL GIFT

L. H. Caudell, Route 1, Melissa, was in the city Saturday. His wife is clerk of the Stony Point Baptist church, about six miles east of Melissa, in which community she and her husband reside. Mr. Caudell stated that some years ago, their comparatively new church building was struck by lightning and burned down. A new church was built in which the congregation is now worshiping. A burdensome debt has been on the church during these past few years of depression. In order to help liquidate this obligation, Mr. Caudell informs us that Judge Frank E. Wilcox of McKinney, who is president of the Wilcox Lumber Co. that owns several yards in this and other Collin towns, made a liberal donation of a little more than $500.00 on the Stony Point church debt.

Mr. Caudell says that the members of that church, under the leadership of their pastor, Rev. G. B. Airhart, are under lasting obligations to the Wilcox Lumber Co. and Judge Wilcox for their practical and liberal assistance.

Mr. Caudell operates a general merchandise store at Chambliss and also operates a peddling wagon in the surrounding territory. He handles quite a lot of produce in the way of chickens, eggs, turkeys and other things which he buys from his farmer patrons.

Chambliss and Stony Point are really different names for the same community. The church and cemetery have always been known as Stony Point and the store and former postoffice were known by the name of Chambliss.

Revival Begins Sunday, June 17 at Wilson Chapel

As before stated in these columns, Wallace Stiff was born and reared in McKinney and at one time served as City Marshal here before moving to Temple more than twenty years ago.

He was married in 1915 to Miss Lotta Millard of Muskogee, Oklahoma. To this union was born two children, Alma Bernice and Genevieve May.

He made a confession of faith and was of the Baptist belief.

He is survived by his wife, children and brother, Lem Vernon of Coweta, his mother and sister, Miss Alta, of McKinney, Texas, and sisters, Mrs. C. L. Watkins of San Antonio, and Mrs. L. D. Bratton of Hamilton, Texas, and other relatives and a host of friends who mourn his passing.

He was a faithful husband and devoted father. His home life was ideal. Through his long illness, of more than seven months, he was cheerful and bore his afflictions bravely. When the end came he was calm, resigned and ready to meet his Maker.

Mr. Vernon was one of those men who made the world better by his having lived in it. He was always calm and considerate, and the only shadows that appeared in his pathway, which he discussed with his friends, was the distress of others. He was a good listener and carefully weighed the expressed ideas of his friends, but had strong personal convictions of his own.

The outstanding characteristics of Mr. Vernon were his calm consideration of every subject; his deep interest in the welfare of his fellow man, his happy temperament, and hopeful views of life. His public interest was confined to no class or color, rich or poor, white or black, alike seemed, when in grief, to have received from him that touch of nature which makes the whole world akin.

The moral side of Mr. Vernon's life was no less admirable. He was generous, magnanimous, humane, tender, and above all honest; honest not only in his actions but in his life. He had his high ideal of the good, and lived up to it without deviation. His idea of honesty did not stop on fairness in his dealings with others, but compelled fair dealings with himself, and always showed an honest and upright purpose in the end he sought. His fidelity to his personal convictions to duty, as well as his respect for the sentiment of his friends, and his spotless reputation made his friendship and his influence, leave as it has done, a lasting impression.

His friends, who knew him best, and loved him well, indulge the hope that another Judge with ampler powers whose writs run throughout eternity, after examining the records of a life so well spent as Mr. Vernon spent his, reached the same conclusion that his closest friends have: "Upon your record, you stand acquitted and throughout all the shining realms of Paradise you may go where you will."
